Examine the Personality Characteristics and Parenting Styles

1Dr. Shahram Mami and 2Minoo Ahmadian

1Department of Psychology, Ilam Branch, Islamic Azad University, of Ilam, Iran.
2Student of Psychology, Ilam Branch, science and Reserch, Islamic Azad University, of Ilam, Iran.

table

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>A R T I C L E  I N F O</th>
<th>A B S T R A C T</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Article history:</td>
<td>This study aims relationship between parenting style and children's perfectionism are examined. The primary purpose of 30 boys and girls with their parents through a multi-stage random sampling were selected as sample population and the distribution of questionnaires, parental style and perfectionism and the Pearson correlation coefficients and regression analysis with the authoritarian parenting style is found that families with children are encouraged to complete the operation. And relative to the failings of their frustration, anxiety and restlessness react as a result of any error, frightened children, being a perfectionist and try to avoid the mistakes and failures.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Article history:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Received 15 April 2014</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Received in revised form 22 May 2014</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Accepted 25 May 2014</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Available online 15 June 2014</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Key words:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>parenting style, perfectionism, personality characteristics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

© 2014 AENSI Publisher All rights reserved.

To Cite This Article: Dr. Shahram Mami, Minoo Ahmadian, Examine the Personality Characteristics and Parenting Styles. Adv. Environ. Biol., 8(6), 2865-2868, 2014

INTRODUCTION

Essential role in maintaining family life, mental health, mental and social health of children are parents. Family is first and foremost a social context for human development provides. During normal development of each child in a series of cognitive, emotional and social witness Almost all children throughout development and will have difficulty in coping with change, stress and conflict that follows, can be behavioral problems - they can lead to emotional and learning. The majority of children's behavioral problems reflect the complex conditions of the individual family members, especially parents. In other words, child behavior problems as faulty family relationships with one another and false-rearing practice of parents and children are associated with defective interactions. Parenting styles, child rearing patterns that are standard with specific rules and parental responses to children's behavior is determined by Sign and malton. Darling and Steinberg [6] features one of the parents know that parenting styles by adjusting the specific actions that do parents. Experience changes in appetite, children socialization process, the socialization efforts of parents to influence their children. Their parenting styles and attitudes of parents towards children as defined in connection with children being expressed. Make an emotional space in which parental behavior expressed. These behaviors, in particular behaviors and attitudes that are targeted by each of the parents to carry out their parental duties are imposed and parental behavior, including gestures, tone of voice or speech changes include spontaneous emotion. Perfectionism and its links with parenting practices are inseparable. Many researchers involved in the creation and development of the family and social environment of the child agree and believe that perfectionism is rooted in childhood experiences, particularly in relation to parental - child (Anis, of Clara 2,002th Cox). The researchers found that perfectionism is a personality style of interpersonal interaction with caregivers knows that there is a reaction. Among the family characteristics that affect child development in different aspects of parenting style can be named. Among the family characteristics that affect child development in different aspects of parenting style can be named.

Problem Statement:

Parent-child relations are one of the major debates in psychology to form. Relationships between children and other family members can be considered as parts of a system or network of interacting with each other. The parents may love their children and they abandoned them or that they have the same love, the discipline must be strict. A child is simply one aspect of parental behavior or character does not relate, but is influenced by a combination of different factors. On the other hand parents as factors affecting children's lives and in the history of child care, education, discipline and management practices have been responsible for the child's life, they fundamentally changed social part of the primary factor and the child are Mr. Breath, and Schaeffer.

Corresponding Author: Dr. Shahram Mami, Department of Psychology, Ilam Branch, Islamic Azad University, of Ilam, Iran.
Thus, parenting is a relatively new area of research attention since the 1970s and since then it has attracted many approaches have been proposed. So parenting is increasingly in cultural contexts, urban, economic and religious organized and Due to the vulnerable children of childhood as a distinct period of life for foster children has special importance [10]. Last few decades, interest in emotional development - social children has increased. Previously, researchers believed that children's problems are due to a failure in this group of children and their development will outpace problems. The reality, however, the transformation process associated with rapid changes in behavior cannot be unstable. But it is clear that many children with emotional and behavioral problems in early childhood are entitled to adults who suffered them. And in between parenting style affects a significant impact on the education process. . What is the relationship between parenting practices and children's perfectionism is one of the most important aspects of household behavior is the dominant interaction methods. In this discussion, we can say that what is meant by parenting? What is perfectionism in children and occurs when? And questions can be raised like this. Perfectionism is a personality structures with features such as trying to perfect and extreme in performance criteria, along with the tendency to specify the critical assessment of behavior. Perfectionism in recent years in the field of literature has been able to attract increasing interest to researchers. Different approaches about perfectionism, it is one-dimensional or multi-dimensional structures have been introduced. One of the biggest problems is that families have to deal with the issue of parenting and children's perfectionism. Perhaps lax that parenting a child with abnormalities of the society subsequently led to problems in society. There is social problems between negative parenting practices and the lack of a significant relationship between perfectionism and expand

Literature Research:

The relationship between parenting practices and perfectionism has been little research on how best the parenting and other variables significant work has been done.

Evangelism and others in a study called "The relationship between parenting styles, parental perfectionism" statistically using Pearson's coefficient of correlation coefficients and statistical population of 800 patients concluded that perfectionism parents, parenting styles and their related features it affects. - Heydari and others [8] in a study called "The Effect of Gender on Perceived parenting self-handicapping" facto research method, sample and test Mania martyr Beheshti University, concluded that between self-handicapping and authoritarian parenting style parenting styles are significantly higher than the other. Nuts Qi and others in a study entitled "Effectiveness of Teaching green weed by the side of rivers husbandry stress reduction mothers", 38 mothers as the statistical analysis (SPSS) and t tests concluded that the Stress Index mothers interference is reduced significantly. In other words, we can say that education, parenting practices, maternal stress is significantly reduced. - Reshvanlou and Hijazi [11] in a study entitled "Relationship of perceived parenting styles and academic motivation and achievement in high school students' multi-stage random sampling method, 337 multiple-regression analysis male and female students varying styles and concluded that there is a significant correlation between student achievement.

The Importance and Necessity of Research:

Given the importance of the issue stems from the lack of proper parenting practices are flawed perfectionism and other-oriented perfectionism if undetected compromise associated with blaming others, lack of confidence and feelings of hostility towards others. And it was perfectionism in defiance to social unrest And considering parenting can be a way to organize society and Atlayy to its limit. Due to the abnormal structure of perfectionism, perfectionism child relationship Parenting styles in addition to advancing the theory of perfectionism and personality to help those involved in education and teaching methods suitable ever applied to the existence of parenting partially prevented the rise of pathological structures.

Objectives of Research:

The General Purpose:

The purpose of this study was to investigate the relationship between child Peruvian style and perfectionism among Iranian families.

The Target Component:

Most methods of child-rearing practices family and its impact on the course seeks perfectionism

The General Hypothesis:

Significant relationship between parenting styles of parents with children there is perfectionism.

Assumptions Minor:

- Between authoritarian parenting practices and children's perfectionism is a meaningful relationship.
- Between authoritative parenting style and children's perfectionism is a meaningful relationship.
- Stuck between permissive parenting styles and children's perfectionism, there is a significant relationship

Conceptual and Operational Definition of Variables:

Concept way of parenting: Parenting from the root of the term periodontics (pario) means "life" is taken. Approach to parenting techniques that are used by parents to educate their children, and suggest that their attitudes toward their children as well as norms and laws enacted for their children. But it must be admitted that parenting behaviors mediated by culture, race and economic groups changes. Parenting, child rearing patterns that are standard with specific rules and parental responses to children's behavior is determined. Bam rind family has provided the most popular styles. His styles include styles authoritarian, totalitarian and authoritarian, permissive stuck – knows.

Authoritarian parents try to take the children to activities and discussions centered logical way to lead. Parents, who use this style, convey facts to allow their children, and their children are more willing to accept the reasons for the rejection of an instruction (instruction) of their show. The parents are good orators and often subjugation and the use of reasoning and logic to deal with a child with his talk of undesirable behaviors in children are scared and angry resistance to twisting. Authoritative parents of children in efforts are to support and strengthen attention and respond use more positively. Parents love it too well then they should not hesitate to express affection and love and compassion. Their own right as an adult to understand and are aware of their child's individual interests and special features, Children's parents, active, confident, independence, realistic, competent and pleasing, was described. 6-1-2 Permissive parents exert less control over their children's demands, they are very reasonable. Kindness and sympathy they are moderate. The parents of the family are quite upset. Family activities, irregular and apply regulations, negligence is conservative. Parents have little control over their children, but also have conflicting attitudes about child discipline. Negligent parents while the children are sensitive to the appearance, but do not expect much from them. Refusing reasonable requests with no reason and dialogue with children always are characteristic of this style. The parents are very rarely giving their children the correct information or a detailed description. However, the negligent parents are tyrannical and oppressive. They feel guilty and distraction techniques are used. The parents are also often faced with excuses and complaints, child, do they surrender. Lax parental love parents have mighty big difference. 6-1-3 authoritarian parents: Parental power is the primary factor that distinguishes this approach from other practices. The parents are very demanding and receptive to the needs and desires of children. Parental verbal messages are one-sided and lacking in emotional content. Authoritarian parents often when applying commands do not provide a reason. The parents than other parents to be intimidated by the amount of undesirable behaviors, are moderately. Among these three methods, the practices of authoritarian parents show little compassion and kindness. In particular, these parents rarely leads to happiness in a relationship that is child participate. Children's efforts are to support and attention than they generally indifferent and seldom use of positive reinforcement. Love is in the lowest level of the model. The confirmation, communion and expressed little sympathy towards their children of family and little evidence expressed there are strong relationships between mother and child. In fact, according to the reports, the parents to control their children the way they use fear and no understanding between parents and children, there is tyranny. Children obey your parents have a good attitude and behavior of children when they are in conflict with the standards of child asked Draw gear use of force punishment. 6.2 Functional definition of parental style: the use of parenting practices questionnaire is designed to cover three parenting style and level of perfectionism associated with these three means is measured. 6.2.1 defining the concept of perfectionism: Perfectionism means by Felt's identity [7] and the empirical evidence supporting it has been suggested, involving three dimensions: self-oriented perfectionism, self-criticism and to impose implies strict demands on themselves, other-oriented perfectionism, according to which a person has high expectations of others, other-oriented perfectionism measures high and sometimes unrealistic standards for others to consider, Socially oriented perfectionism, the high expectations of others, especially important than individual entities. 6.2.2 Definition of application-oriented perfectionism to oriented perfectionism applied the concept of multidimensional is used perfectionism scale.

Statistical Society:

The population of all parents of students with One of the primary schools in the city of Ilam.

Sampling and Sampling:

Here the parents and their children, so both should be involved in the study took samples from the children. Each student was chosen as the parents involved in the study were given a choice. Sampling with multi-stage and was used multi-stage sampling method. In the first six grades of primary three classes (first, third, fifth) and the second class of five girls and five boys from the office listed in alphabetical order or randomly selected.
REFERENCES